ENVIRONMENT POLICY

Beardow Adams will operate its business with integrity and recognise that the protection of the environment is a key responsibility.

Beardow Adams is committed to complying with all legislation regarding environmental issues and minimising the environmental impact of its activities and to continue to develop new products which do not adversely effect the environment.

The company's policy is to ensure that at every stage in the evolution of Beardow Adams, continual monitoring of the potential impact of its' operations on the environment, ensures that standards set out in EN ISO 14001 are maintained and improved.

Beardow Adams is committed to create acceptable working environment for its employees and inform staff of environmental targets and objectives and policy. The company will seek to continually monitor, rectify and improve environmental standards. Information will be communicated to employees, on a regular basis by means of posters, notice board information and verbally.

Where possible Beardow Adams will work closely with customers and suppliers to minimise the environmental impact of activities by optimising energy usage, minimising waste and emissions to air, water and land and by not using materials that are in any way harmful to the environment.

Beardow Adams operates an environmental management system based on the requirements of EN ISO 14001* as part of the company's integrated management system.

The Managing Director is responsible, through his functional departmental managers, for ensuring that this policy is implemented and continually monitored to identify areas for improvement.
